WANDERLUST: WHERE IN THE WORLD DO YOU LONG TO TRAVEL?

Wherever you long to go, you can find the perfect travel guide in the Universal Orlando Foundation Library at the Rosen College of Hospitality Management!

On display this Summer is just a small sample of the many travel books we have in our collection. To test your geography skills, a picture of Tim the Librarian will be posted by the exhibit at the beginning of each week. Based on the picture, contestants will guess by Friday of that week where in the world Tim is located (one entry per person, per week). Each correct answer will be entered into a drawing for one of three 2 GB flash drives. The three drawings will be held at the end of summer A, B, & C Sessions.

Five Great Reasons to Use the Library's Online Collection:

- ◆ You can access the library's online collection of books, journals, government documents, and streaming videos 24 hours a day, seven days a week.
- ◆ Our online collection includes diverse topics we don't have in the Rosen print collection: literature, hot topics, science, mathematics, psychology, foreign language, software guides, the "Complete Idiot's" and "for Dummies" series, and many others.
- ◆ Some textbooks and class readings are part of our online collection, including Professional Event Coordination, Successful Restaurant Design, Event Marketing, and more.
- ◆ Reference books: reference materials are generally in-library use only, but you can access online reference books in the comfort of your home. The library subscribes to reference-specific databases such as Credo Reference and Gale Virtual Reference Library, and there are more than 400 online encyclopedias that can be accessed through the UCF Library Catalog.
- ◆ No late fees for overdue books! Since you are not physically checking out a book, you don't have to worry about losing it or forgetting to return it on time!

How can you access these online resources? While searching in the Library Catalog, keep an eye out for the word "online" in your search results. To access an item, simply click on the link provided in the catalog record. You can also access online resources through our Databases by Subject page. To get started, visit these links on our homepage: <http://library.ucf.edu/rosen>.

For more information about accessing, viewing, or citing online materials, stop by the library, call us at 407-903-8100, or email us at rosenlib@mail.ucf.edu.

"As a child, I loved to read books. The library was... a pathway to worlds and people far from my neighborhood in Philadelphia. And even today, as I travel around the world, I often visit places I used to dream about because of the books I'd read."

Our Library Assistants

Tina Jonli

A native of Norway, Tina is a Senior Hospitality Management student. She is multi-lingual, speaking Norwegian, German and English. In Norway, she taught middle school and worked in hotels, before coming to Orlando to study at the Rosen College. For fun, Tina plays soccer, does scrapbooking, and loves to travel!

Kristina Katris

Kristina is a Sophomore transfer student from St. Petersburg College where she earned her AA in Business Management. A Milwaukee, Wisconsin native, she is fluent in Greek and will be majoring in both German and Hospitality Management. Kristina would like a career with an international hotel or resort company. She also hopes to study abroad for one semester.

Pamela Allison

Rosen College PhD Candidate Pamela Allison joins us in the library this summer. Pamela keeps busy teaching at Valencia Community College and hopes to obtain a faculty position upon completion of her dissertation.

May Book of the Month – The House of Mondavi

Craving a good, wine-soaked soap opera? Enjoy watching the Biography channel or E!'s True Hollywood Story while sipping a California Chardonnay? Then you might want to tackle The House of Mondavi by Julia Flynn Siler. This is a complex family saga in which history tends to repeat itself.

Robert Mondavi was born to Italian Immigrants who settled in then-sleepy Napa Valley and worked to rebuild California's wine industry after Prohibition. Unfortunately, like many family-owned businesses, the next generation (mainly Robert and his brother, Peter) could not work together and Robert left to form his own Robert Mondavi Winery, with its now famous Mission-style tower, as a legacy to his children.

Although Robert Mondavi became the foremost ambassador of California wines in the latter half of the 20th century, he was unable to keep from repeating the same mistakes with his sons as his own parents made. In pitting his children against each other, his whole family ended up losing their winery to a big corporation. Ironically, although Robert Mondavi always intended for his winery to remain a family-run operation dedicated to improving the quality of California wines, the Mondavi name is now synonymous with the new corporate arrogance of generic winemaking, as documented in the film Mondovino.

The House of Mondavi offers fascinating insight into the harsh aspects of the wine business, as well as the pitfalls of family dynasties. You can check out this book, as well as other wine themed selections, from our Rosen General Collection.
